Seventy-Five People Were Killed at a Fire.

GIANT POWDER EXPLODES IN A FREIGHT DEPOT.

The Entire Fire Department Was Wiped Out of Existence and the Scene Resembled a Battle Field—Fifty-three Bodies Have Been Recovered and Forty-Three Wounded People Are in the Hospitals—Damage is $1,000,000.

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 16.—Fifty three bodies have been recovered from the ruins caused by the explosion of giant powder during the burning of the Montana Central freight house last night. It is now thought that the list of dead will reach seventy five with fifty wounded people in the hospital here and twenty eight of them are thought to be in a critical condition. The explosion wiped out of existence the entire fire department, and killing at least seventy-five men. The explosions occurred in the Montana Central yards, in which the powder was stored in cars. Fire broke out at 10:05 in the Royal Milling company's warehouse and spread to the Kenyon-Cornell warehouse, in which were stored several car loads of giant powder. While firemen were fighting the fire and closing around the cars, which had caught, a terrible explosion occurred and killed every fireman save two. One of these was standing behind the hose cart horses and the other was at a water hydrant several feet away.

So far between fifty and sixty mangled bodies have been recovered and more are being picked up on all sides. The firemen who had escaped immediately rallied and were beginning another attack when a second explosion, more violent than the first, took place. The people in the vicinity were mowed down as with a great scythe and the streets for half a block around looked like a great battlefield. Debris was thrown high in the air, coming down half a mile away. Many people on the streets in the center of the city were thus injured. A few of the remaining firemen were gathering themselves together and attempting to escape to a place of safety when the third and last explosion occurred. This, too, killed and injured many people.

There were several cars of the powder and all of them exploded. The whole heavens were lighted up and the city shook as if an earthquake was in progress. Immediately after the first explosion the entire hospital corps and police force were summoned, and many of the detachments of these companies are among the killed and injured in the subsequent explosions. Every house for blocks around has been turned into an impromptu hospital.

The scene is terrifying, and at this hour (12:10 a. m.) wagons are still taking dead bodies from the scene of the explosion to various undertaking establishments and the wounded to their homes and hospitals. The latter are all full.

The full list of the dead possibly will reach seventy-five, and the damage to property will be more than $1,000,000. In all three carloads of powder exploded, one of which was stored in the Butte Hardware company's warehouse, which adjoined the Kenyon-Cornell warehouse.

It is impossible as yet to get the names. It is estimated that 100 additional persons were injured, several of whom died after being taken to the hospitals.

The effects of the explosion apart from the scene itself were felt throughout the entire city. The stanchest buildings were shaken to their foundations and many were so weakened in their support as to be dangerous for habitation until repairs can be made. Windows were shattered and the shower of glass that poured forth into the streets was like some novel hail storm, as unique a fancy of nature as was the disaster that brought it forth. The entire city was in the depths of repose when the first alarms of fire were sounded. Only a few people in the immediate vicinity had been aroused by the department dashing by. The first real warning given of the catastrophe was the shock that brought every sleeper to his feet.

It was like an earthquake in its sudden impact. The answering blaze in the heavens seemed to verify the first fears, and before the real truth was known terror stricken people were dashing half crazed through the streets shouting an unintelligible alarm.

The terrors aroused by the first shock were multiplied to an awful degree by those that followed immediately after. In an instant it seemed from every house in the city the entire population poured forth half dressed and possessed of an unknown terror into the streets. Like an army put to rout and in headlong retreat they dashed in the direction of the blaze.

The scene of the tragedy was soon surrounded by a dense mass of people. All seemed to be panic stricken by the extent of the terror and few were able at first to become sufficiently composed to render practical assistance.

Struck about in an awful confusion of death lay the torn and mangled bodies of men and horses. Interspersed in the frightful pyre were some to whom life still remained and whose cries and moans made the midnight terrible.

The natural horror of the scene was intensified by the surrounding darkness outside the circle lighted by the flames. The pitiable cries of those suddenly hurled to the brink of death were soon almost drowned by a more intense wailing of women and children. Wives hurried from the unconsciousness of sleep to the sides of their dead husbands, mothers confronted with sons mangled so as to be almost unrecognizable, and children gazing in terror at a scene they could not appreciate joined in a dreadful threnody.

The stricken people were so crazed by the sudden affliction they overran the scene beyond any human power to check them. When some slight form of order could be imposed on the people the horror changed from one of mass to one more awful in detail. Individuals could now be separated from the general field of dead, and the work of arranging the victims who could be gathered up from the debris was begun.

MILK TRUST BEATEN.

Illinois Supreme Court Gives It a Body Blow.

OTTAWA, Ill., Jan. 16.—The Chicago Milk Shippers' association, alias the milk trust, as organized in February, 1891, with a stockholding membership of 1,500 dealers, to control the price of milk within the limits of the city of Chicago, received its death blow as a price-fixing concern in the Supreme court yesterday. The court handed down a lengthy opinion, in which the business of the association is declared illegal and the man responsible for its downfall, Charles C. Ford of 1055 Adams street, is absolved from the payment of $433.80 which he owed the association in October, 1891. Ford had purchased milk from the trust from April 15, 1891, to October, paying the trust price, 75 cents per can, during May and June, and 80 cents during July, August and September, but refusing to pay the rate of 90 cents fixed for October and the remainder of the year, declaring it to be exorbitant and illegal. The trust sued him in the circuit court and was beaten. It appealed to the appellate court, which decided that, though the trust was an illegal body, the debt must be paid.

PRUSSIAN DIET IS OPEN.

Emperor William Reads His Speech From the Throne.

BERLIN, Jan. 16.—The Prussian diet was opened yesterday in the white hall of the palace by Emperor William. His majesty read the speech from the throne.

He began by saying that the Prussian budget showed a deficit which he hoped would disappear on the accomplishment of the proposed financial reforms of the reichstag. After announcing bills for the extension of state railways and other domestic measures the emperor drew attention to the fact that the heavy gales and floods of the last few weeks had caused great devastation on the Prussian islands off the coast and in the North sea, adding that the necessary steps would be taken for the adoption of measures to repair the damage.

Illinois Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 16.—The following bills were introduced in the senate yesterday: Bogardus—In relation to the management of state prisons. By Craig—To amend the act for assessment and collection of taxes, to provide for the punishment of false assessments and to define citizenship of corporations. By Ford—Providing for the establishment of a department of banking and a commissioner for bank inspection. By Wells—Authorizing city councils in cities whose population is not less than 25,000, nor more than 100,000, to provide a special fund, not to exceed 3 mills on a dollar valuation of property, for the purpose of purchasing and maintaining parks and boulevards. It also provides that the question of levying such tax shall be submitted to the people. The senate then adjourned.

After a five minutes' session the house adjourned. The only business transacted was a resolution for the appointment of a mailcarrier by the speaker at $3 a day.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—M. Meron has been nominated French vice-consul at Galveston, Texas, replacing M. Glendulet.

M. CASIMIR-PERIER
QUITS HIS OFFICEPRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC RESIGNS.

The Crisis Complicated by His Action—France Is a Turmoil—Men Who Are Prominently Talked About for Succession to the Place Made Vacant.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—It was announced last evening that M. Casimir-Perier, president of the French republic, had resigned office. During the evening he conferred with the president of the senate and then summoned M. Guerin, minister of justice; M. Leygues, minister of public instruction; M. Poincarre, minister of finance, and the prefect of the seine. M. Leygues had a conversation with Perier, the result of which is not known.

A second official note was issued at 11 o'clock announcing the resignation of the president and forecasting the ideas he intends to develop in his farewell address to the chamber of deputies. The note says that in the eyes of the president Monday's sitting of the chamber and the vote which overthrew the cabinet were only secondary incidents of the struggle which is proceeding against the parliamentary regime and public liberties. Continuing, the note says the president has requested the ministers to temporarily withdraw their resignations in order to facilitate the necessary changes.

Prime Minister Dupuy imparted President Casimir-Perier's decision to the presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies, who will forthwith call urgency sittings of these bodies. The greatest perplexity reigns in all political circles. When the facts became known consternation, amounting almost to stupor, seized every one. There had been ominous hints in the press in the recent days that M. Casimir-Perier was growing tired of his position, yet nobody paid attention to them. The high character, experience, firmness and integrity of the president inspired the confidence of even the advanced republicans.

It is believed the national assembly will meet to-morrow. Those best informed as to the political situation believe that Casimir-Perier will be re-elected by a large majority. It is expected steps will be taken to bring about this result. If they fail it is probable the government parties will choose Dupuy as their candidate. The names of Waldeck, Roussau, Challe-mel-Lacour and Spuller are also mentioned in connection with this office.

IS MOSHER'S ACCOMPLICE.

R. C. Outcalt Indicted at Omaha in the Lincoln Bank Case.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 16.—As a sequel to the wrecking of the Capital National bank at Lincoln last year, through which over $1,000,000 was stolen and President Mosher sent to the penitentiary for five years, the federal grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against R. C. Outcalt, a prominent Lincoln citizen, for aiding Mosher's wrecking plan. Outcalt was cashier. The grand jury has also voted new indictments against Mosher. It is said several persons of prominence in Nebraska connected with recent bank failures have been indicted.

The Brooklyn Strike.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—There was more violence yesterday by the strikers in Brooklyn, but it was quickly suppressed. A determined effort to break the strike will be made to-day. In view of the possible attacks on mail cars arrangements have been made for the calling out of the militia at any moment this step may be found necessary. Master Workman Connelly says this time will never come for the conveyance of mail matter in the hands of the United States officials will not be interfered with.

Senate Becomes a Double Header.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 16.—The old split between the populists and republicans took place again yesterday over the nomination for state printer. There are now two senates in session and the whole trouble must be gone over again. The governor in his message recommends a careful supervision of the office of the state printer and a reduction of the appropriation. The fee system, the governor says, ought to be abolished, and a fixed salary attached to all offices.

Thurston One Step Nearer Senator.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 16.—In the senate and house yesterday John M. Thurston received every republican vote for United States senator, and the action will be ratified to-day in joint session and Mr. Thurston declared senator to succeed Charles F. Manderson. The fact that the populists and democrats failed to name and give Congressman Bryan the united vote of opposition created much comment.

Reward of $20,000 for Taylor.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 16.—The governor yesterday issued a proclamation offering a reward of $20,000 for the apprehension of W. W. Taylor, the defaulting treasurer of this state. The senate has passed and the house will pass to-day a bill granting to the attorney-general $10,000 to be used in employing detectives for Taylor's apprehension, and in prosecuting his bondsmen, and releasing their property.

QUIET DAY SPENT AT THE CAPITALYESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS AT WASHINGTON.

Not Much Important Business in the House—Judiciary Committee Votes to Impeach Judge Rinks—Tariff Inquiry in the Senate—Other Capital News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—After some unimportant business the house yesterday went into committee of the whole for the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. The bill carried $649,820, $229,000 less than the estimates, and a reduction of $238,738 compared with the appropriation for the current fiscal year. Mr. Holman, chairman of the Indian committee, explained the changes made. The changes included an increase in the appropriation for Indian schools of $125,350, making the total amount $1,126,350. Of this amount but 80 per cent was to be used for contract schools in pursuance of the policy recently inaugurated looking to the ultimate substitution of government for contract schools.

No progress was made with the bill and at 4:30 the house adjourned.

WANTS TARIFF INFORMATION.

Senate Passes Resolutions Calling on Secretary Carlisle for Figures.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Touching and eloquent reference was made in Chaplain Milburn's opening prayer in the senate yesterday to the bereavement of Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota in the loss of his wife.

Senator Voorhees from the finance committee favorably reported the bill for coinage at the branch mint at Denver, Colo.

Senator Manderson secured the passage of two important resolutions calling on the secretary of the treasury for information on the tariff. One resolution asks for the quantities of spirits and highwines taken out of bond during the sixty days prior to Aug. 28 last, when the new tariff took effect, the names of the parties or concerns who took the goods from bond and all other detailed information concerning the same. The other resolution calls on the secretary for full information as to the amount of sugar imported during the sixty days prior to Aug. 28, the names of the importers, amounts of imports, the country whence it came, etc.

The debate was then resumed on the income tax item in the deficiency appropriation bill and Senator Calkins addressed the senate in favor of the appropriation.

Mr. Quay submitted a statement from the stock books of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, showing that the income tax would fall mainly on stockholders having small amounts of stock.

Mr. Cockrell gave notice that he would insist on final disposition of the deficiency bill to-day.

The senate then held a brief executive session, and at 4:45 p. m. adjourned.

MANY GRANTS APPROVED.

State of Washington Selects Large Tracts of Public Lands.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The secretary of the interior has approved clear lists of lands aggregating 54,698 acres, selected on account of grants made to the State of Washington, in the Seattle and Waterville land districts, for building purposes for public buildings.

Secretary Smith has directed that action be suspended on the selections made by the Southern Pacific railroad of lands within the common identity limits for the grants for that road and for the Atlantic & Pacific road, pending decision on a suit recently brought to determine the right of the Southern Pacific to such lands.

The adjustment of the grant made by the act of June 3, 1856, to aid in the construction of the South and North Alabama Railroad company of Alabama has been approved by Secretary Smith. More than 100,000 acres are still due on account of the grant, and the adjustment shows that 635 acres have been erroneously certified. So far 2,807 acres have been selected by the company.

ABOUT THE INCOME TAX.

Test Case Argued Before the District Equity Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The case of John G. Moore against Internal Revenue Commissioner Miller, brought to test the constitutionality of the income tax law, came up before Judge Hagner in the District Equity court yesterday. Argument for the plaintiff was made by Judge Wilson and for the defense by Assistant Attorney General Whitney. Assistant Attorney General Whitney argued that none of the specific objections made to the tax raises the question of uniformity within the meaning of the constitution. Attorney Jere Wilson in opening for the complainant denied that there was adequate remedy by law and asserted that various difficulties confronted the counsel for the complainant in filing the suit. The courts are reluctant to interfere with the collection of these taxes. He said there was no remedy except of appeal to the justice of congress.

At this point the government asked for an adjournment until to-day and the case was accordingly postponed.

Judge Wilson will continue his argument to-day.

TO OPEN RESERVATION.

House Committee on Indian Affairs Votes to Report the Flynn Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The long pending question of opening the Wichita Indian reservation in Oklahoma to settlement was settled yesterday by the house committee on Indian affairs, which voted to report the bill recommended by Delegate Flynn. This bill stipulates that the Choctaw and Chickasaw tribes, which claim ownership, must bring suit before the court of claims of the District of Columbia within sixty days after the bill becomes an act to sustain their title, otherwise the Wichitas will receive the proceeds of the sale of the lands, as they will in case the courts decide in their favor.

There are nearly one million acres of these lands owned by 1,000 Indians. The Wichitas will be allowed 160 acres each and the remainder of the land will be opened to settlement under the homestead laws at $1.25 an acre.

Of Interest to the Meat Trade.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—At its meeting yesterday the ways and means committee of the house decided to report favorably the bill, submitted by Chairman Wilson, providing for repeal of the discriminating duty of one tenth of a cent per pound on all sugar imported from bounty giving countries. Mr. Wilson says he will report the bill to the house within a very short time, and push it vigorously in response to special request from Secretary Gresham, and for the sole purpose of putting a stop to the unjust retaliation by Germany and other European nations against the American meat trade.

Jones Currency Bill Discussed.

JUMPED FOR LIFE.

Husband and Wife Meet an Awful Death.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 16.—At 4 o'clock yesterday fire broke out on the ground floor of 13 West Middle street and before its discovery had much headway that escape for the sleeping inmates was rendered a hazardous undertaking. When the firemen and neighbors reached the scene Thomas Whitridge, a broker, and his young wife appeared at the window of the second-story front room. Mrs. Whitridge was unconscious. Her husband, holding her in his arms, leaned far out of the second story window and made a frantic grab and spring for the ladder which the fireman had run up. He missed the ladder and both were dashed to the pavement. Mrs. Whitridge was instantly killed and her husband died a few minutes later. The other occupants escaped uninjured.

LOCAL CATHOLICS OPEN FINE ROOMS

NEW HALL PLEASANTLY DEDICATED LAST NIGHT.

Song, Story, Speeches and Music Made the Evening a Merry One and Following the Banquet and Program a Dancing Party Was Given Which All Enjoyed.

With song, story and feasting the new rooms of the Union Catholic League were dedicated last night. Sixteen hundred dollars worth of new paint and furnishings had so altered the appearance of the rooms that it was doubtful if they would be recognized in their new garb. The stars and stripes and the green of the Emerald Isle were mingled on the walls and the decorations were handsome and appropriate. Three long banquet tables had been spread by the ladies for the guests and two smaller tables had been arranged for those who were to take part in the programme. The banquet had been prepared by the ladies of the league to whom much credit is due both for the feast headlong or dangerous experiments and in that respect it is a great aid to the nation. It has in it many of the same elements today that it had in the middle ages and which enabled it to save much of the world's civilization and learning. When the history of the development of civilization in this country shall be written, the members of the Catholic church are bound to receive their due share of praise.

Fought For the Right.

During the struggle over slavery in this country members of the Catholic church lent great aid upon the side of right and liberty. During the war of the rebellion thousands upon thousands of members of that church offered up their lives upon the altar of their country and during that war the nation had no more valiant defenders, brave soldiers and good citizens than those found worshipping in the Catholic church. I might name members of the Catholic church who were great statesmen, great lawyers and judges, the names of physicians who have advanced medical science and I might dwell upon the good accomplished by the humble citizen Catholics in various municipalities in this country, but these things can all be read in history, and it is not necessary to call attention to them tonight. Let our citizen Catholics join with the grounds that it was getting late and there were other numbers on the program to follow. Will Cody sang a solo in a creditable manner and to Rev. R. J. Roche was assigned the subject "Who Were Our Continental Catholics and What Did They Accomplish" and spoke forty minutes on that subject. The vocal duet by Misses Julia Kneff and Mary Mullen-schlader was much enjoyed and another vocal number by Mr. Collins followed. This concluded the program and dancing followed. The affair was much enjoyed by all who attended.

AFTON Y. P. S. E. NAME COMMITTEES

Work Is Now Divided Up—Ice Houses Finished—Farmers' Institute.

AFTON, Jan. 15.—The committee work of the Baptist Y. P. S. C. E. will be attended to for the ensuing six months by the following committee appointed last Sunday: Lookout—Rose B. Eldredge, W. J. Miller and U. G. Waite; prayer meeting—J. R. Charles, O. D. Antisdel and A. R. Waite; social—Myrtle M. Eldredge, Alice Humphrey and Leonas McCrea; flower—Bertha Tank, Jennie Pankhurst and Winifred Watts; missionary—Inez N. Charles, Frank Blunk and W. M. Lawton; music—W. M. Kleber, Myrtle M. Eldredge and A. R. Waite; Relief—J. B. Humphrey, Nellie McCrea and Mary J. Pankhurst; temperance—J. F. Bolte, Anna L. Tank and A. J. Pankhurst. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Miller are now residents of our village, having moved into their commodious new house last week. Frank P. Starr and Joseph B. Humphrey were Afton representatives at the Milton Junction institute last week. Arrangements are being perfected for the farmers institute to be held here Feb. 12 and 13, conducted by a member of the state force. This will be Afton's first institute and should be a good one. It is rumored that Beloit parties contemplate the erection of an ice house here, to be stored with our superior quality of ice. Words were spoken by Rev. C. D. Merrill of Beloit last Wednesday evening which united John E. Rummage of Plymouth and Miss Isabel Jackson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson of this town, as husband and wife. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents and was witnessed by a goodly company of relatives and friends. Congratulations are in order. The combination effected between Jack Frost and Bass Creek, has given Aftonians who possess ice houses, a chance to fill up with some of the nicest ice ever harvested, and they all improved the opportunity last week. The newly elected officials of Afton Camp No. 2192 M. W. A. will be publicly installed in their respective stations next Friday evening, and a general invitation is extended for members from other camps and those not members, to attend. It is arranged that some of the officers from Beloit camp shall conduct the installation ceremonies, while delegations from Janesville and Shopiere camps are expected.

COOKSVILLE FARMERS GOT GAY.

One Carried a Keg of Beer Three Miles After a Runaway.

COOKSVILLE, Jan. 15.—One of our farmers, accompanied by two friends, went to Stoughton one day last week and became very happy. The horses became loose from the buggy and left them in the road with a keg of beer. One of them carried it home through the cold about three miles and the horses were found next day in a neighbor's cornfield. Miss Avis Savage has a new dictionary from Funk & Wagnalls. It is a beauty and weighs seventeen pounds. The farmers in the vicinity of Cooksville will meet here Saturday, January 19, to decide about a creamery. Mr. and Mrs. Jens Oleson are proud over the arrival of a little daughter. Miss Kate Miller has a new piano. Otto Johnson has a very sick child. Dr. Stair is in attendance. Miss Belle Rice attended the K. P. party at Janesville. Misses Laura and Pearl Phillips of Footville, are the guests of Grace Spear. We saw Julius Savage on the street last Thursday for the first time in three months. He has been confined to his home by sickness. People that were here from abroad to attend the I. O. G. T. anniversary were George Wilder of Madison; E. P. Savage and wife of Evansville; Charles Davis of Stoughton and Henry Stoneburner of Avon. Mr. and Mrs. Stoneburner have returned after a six weeks' visit in Avon. Mrs. Eliza Morely received the sad news that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Maria Johnson was dying at her home in Manitowoc. The thirty-fourth anniversary of the Rising Tide lodge of I. O. G. T. was celebrated with a literary programme and music by the Porter orchestra, after which oysters were served to about one hundred. Mr. Pop of Worth county, Iowa, is visiting at Messrs. Ledler and Dennisons. Mrs. Lucinda McKinney passed quietly away New Year's night and was buried at Attica Friday. Mr. Greenhagen of the state school of Sparta, was a caller here last week. He came after the McKinney children but concluded to leave them for a time.

REUNION OF A GROVE CHURCH.

Annual Meeting of the Congregationalists On January 18.

EMERALD GROVE, Jan. 15.—The annual meeting and reunion of the members of the Congregational church will be held on Friday, January 18, commencing at 10:30 a. m. Reports from the various departments of church work will be read, and such other business transacted as will properly occur at that time. Should the day be stormy the meeting will be postponed. Dinner will be served in the old church and the gathering resumed after dinner. The prize contest which was dated for Friday, January 11, was postponed until Friday, January 18 of this week. The contestants are Charles Boynton, Charles Doubleday, John McArthur, Ed. Smith, Brayton Smith and Oscar Hanson. The program will commence at 8 o'clock. The business meeting of the Christian Endeavor will be held Saturday, January 19 at 7:30 and the meeting of executive will be held at 6:30.

On Monday the body of William Franklin, of Janesville, was brought here and buried in the cemetery. The remains were accompanied by relatives and a large circle of friends. Gillies & Jones are still selling some good prints at three and one-half to four cents per yard; also some choice gingham at five cents. Have you seen them? Mrs. Sally Warner, an old and respected resident of the town of La Prairie, was buried here last Saturday.

SURLOIN STEAK BEATS THE ROUND

The Currency Question Presents a Similar Parallel to a Gazette Correspondent.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—Your article in Monday night's issue headed "Currency Law Good Enough," is food for thought. To the hungry a neck or rump steak is good. If the hungry man don't know anything about surloin or porterhouse, the rump is good enough. In 1863 the government was in distress for money. It appealed to the Rexfords, Jackmans and other moneyed men for a loan. The necessities of the government was only excused by the greed of the moneyed men. The loan was made of $350,000,000 on bonds drawing interest at 6 to 7 3/4 per cent. This interest was not satisfactory to the Rexfords nor the Jackmans. They required ninety cents on each dollar paid back to them without interest. The urgent needs of the government compelled them to accede to the requirement and they did. Say you need $100 bad, you go to a bank with securities. They loan you the money, taking interest in advance, then require you to deposit $90 in their bank. If that would be good enough for you you wouldn't kick. As for me I would be inclined to kick and would kick if I wasn't an OLD CHANK.

MAYOR JOHN THOROUGHGOOD.

and the pleasant manner in which it was served. Smith's orchestra furnished most excellent music during the feast and after the guests had done justice to the menu, F. M. Marzluff as toastmaster called the assembly to order. Music by the orchestra was the first number after which Mr. Marzluff stated that a mistake in the programme had scheduled him for a toast but he was afraid it would be a very dry one, he would introduce Mayor Thoroughgood, who spoke as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN, LADIES AND MEMBERS OF THE CATHOLIC LEAGUE:—Your committee has kindly invited me to participate in your exercises this evening. As these invitations and privileges to say something are the only salary attached to the office of mayor, I accept your call. You will not, I hope, expect a very brilliant discourse during the few moments allotted to me, as the men who follow me will perhaps be more interesting to you. In looking over your programme for this evening, I find your chairman, my friend Mr. Marzluff, is down for a talk of only two minutes. I think that is wrong; you know and I know, Chairman Marzluff can talk ten hours per day, if only that man can be found that will stand up with him. He is a gentleman of wonderful resources, and one that Janesville should be proud of. I have no doubt but Chairman Marzluff was one of the foremost among your committee to extend this invitation to me, he, perhaps, not being over-sure I would accept. I told your delegate when he saw me at my home, that I had an appointment for this evening, but you see that was canceled, and here I am, feeling as safe and secure as I would be at a banquet of the Calumet or other clubs of which we read so much. In responding to the first toast proposed by our toastmaster upon the subject of our "Catholic Citizens," I wish at the outset to take the liberty of changing my toast from "Catholic Citizens" to "Our Citizen Catholics." I see before me many American citizens who belong to the Catholic church, but as citizens I know no difference between the Catholic and the Protestant, the free thinker, the Jew or the Gentile. We should be one and loyal citizens of the United States, although we may differ materially in our religious beliefs. Our religion should in no way affect our citizenship except that it makes us better, more loyal and more prudent citizens.

League Are Loyal Citizens.

The members of the League are loyal Catholics and at the same time stand in the front rank of citizenship. Your Catholicism is independent of your citizenship. There is nothing in either to conflict with the other. We walk side by side on all questions affecting the welfare of the country. The Catholic church is a great institution viewed from a secular standpoint. It is a conservative organization which in a great measure prevents any the citizens of other beliefs in the advancement of patriotism, science, learning, art and humanity. My response to the toast is "Let us all unite in one common effort to advance our common good without reference to our religious beliefs; let each man stand loyally by his religion; by his fireside and by his country." There is, and can be no conflict between our religious duties and our duties as citizens; be he Catholic, Protestant, Jew, or Gentile; let him be a citizen of the United States and as such work for the common good. My being a Protestant, your being a Catholic does not make us good citizens unless we have other traits of character.

We differ in politics and very strongly sometimes. If we republicans did not get drawn over the coals with our morning paper sometimes we would think something was wrong; that we were being snubbed. We must accept all that. The fact still remains that our homes are here, or our interests are here, and we should work for one common purpose. See that Janesville keeps her place on the records of the business world, and feel that you Catholics have done your share in making it so. When a town or city ceases to grow it begins to die, and soon poverty overtakes it. Stand together for its advancement of individuals, show ability to prosper, do not pull him or them back through jealousy. What that man is doing or has done, all tends to your interests, and that being the case, don't weigh him down with cold indifference. The same argument will apply itself to questions of religion. I, a Protestant; you a Catholic; some people worshipping the moon; others blocks of wood or stone; we each have our ideas on these subjects; yet we must not allow these things to estrange us from one another, nor to meddle with the good government of a country we have adopted. Man has a task to perform. He comes into the world for a purpose. Let us then fulfill that purpose by acts of kindness and love to everyone.

D. D. Beauett Encored.

D. D. Bennett's vocal solo came next and was rendered in a manner that elicited an encore. John W. Hogan responded to the toast "Why Our Young Catholics should be Members of the League" and gave the reasons that occurred to him in that connection. Miss Mamie Jones, vocal solo, her accompaniment being played by her sister, Miss Nellie Jones, won for her much praise. "By Special Request" was the subject for recitation by Miss Lon Fenton that was much enjoyed. J. L. Mahoney responded to "Our League and its Object" in a particularly happy manner and his remarks were much enjoyed. A solo by W. H. Collins was so well rendered that he was encored several times. "The Duty of American Citizens" was the subject assigned to Dean McGinnity but he asked to be excused on

Some Frenchmen were boasting of their "affairs of honor," when one of them, a Marseillaise, declared that he had inflicted upon an antagonist the most dreadful fate that a duelist had ever met.

"How was it?" asked everybody.
"I was at a hotel, and I chanced to insult a total stranger. It turned out that he was a fencing-master.

"One or the other of us," he declared, in fearful wrath, "will not go out of this room alive!"

"So let it be!" I shouted in response, and then I rushed out of the room, locked the door behind me, and left him there to die!"

Persons suffering from indigestion will gain no positive permanent good from the fiery unmedicated stimulants of commerce, too often used recklessly. The Bitters is immeasurably, to be preferred to these as a tonic, since its pure basis is modified by the conjunction with it of vegetable ingredients of the highest remedial excellence. ## THE ATTACK ON THE GREENBACKS

The proposition to eliminate the greenbacks from the currency, by retiring and canceling them, finds very little support outside of the eastern bankers and those who reflect their views. It has been fully demonstrated that no such proposition can pass the present congress, whether it shall come in the form of an issue of bonds for funding the United States legal tender notes or in authority to the secretary of the treasury to use surplus revenue for retiring them. Although the president and the secretary of the treasury are committed in favor of retiring the greenbacks a majority of their party in congress is not with them. The decisive vote in the caucus of house democrats against the bond proposition of Representative Sperry conclusively showed that there is no chance for the success in this congress of any scheme for getting rid of the United States legal tender notes.

WHY NOT PROVIDE REVENUE

The fact having been demonstrated that the Carlisle currency bill, or any of the substitutes for it so far proposed, cannot be passed, it is impossible to say what the democrats who are anxious for some sort of currency legislation will now propose. The administration wants the legal tender notes retired and probably will be satisfied with nothing else. That the present congress will not do, nor is it at all likely the next one will. The popular demand that the greenbacks shall remain a part of the currency will not be ignored. Manifestly the best thing congress can do is to drop this question and take up the more pressing one of making the revenue of the government meet the expenditures.

Robbery seems to be a very flourishing business all around us, from the holding up of an express train to the wrecking of banks and the looting of the public treasuries. But it is not the kind of business that the people are anxious to encourage. A few instances of well deserved punishment might prove valuable as a deterrent.

It seems that Senator Blackburn is to come out much stronger, in his canvass for reelection, as an advocate for the free coinage of silver than he has ever done on the floor of the senate. This is very strange, but it is suggestive.

Retiring democratic congressmen who have an idea that money is to be made in the lecture field may obtain some valuable information by applying to Congressman Breckinridge and Wilson.

A political opponent says of the late Congressman Post, of Ill., who died in harness: "He was clean; he was honest, and he was faithful." A more desirable epitaph could not be written.

It is charged that Senator Allen is down on the senate restaurant because he likes his "cold tea" best out of a bottle. He likes the sound of the guggle-guggle-guggle.

Tom Watson, the populist ex-congressman, has discovered that what runs a windmill will not maintain a daily newspaper.

The gold brick bunco man is touring in the south. A wealthy young Virginian recently contributed $5,000 towards his expenses.

The ever-talking man seldom gets credit for being wise, while the silent man often gets credit without deserving it.

A democratic congressional caucus is almost as harmonious as a midnight gathering of cats.

And Senator Gorman, where does

he come in in the democratic reconciliation tableaux?

Mercurial Poison

Is the result of the usual treatment of blood disorders. The system is filled with Mercury and Peppermint—more to be dried than the disease and in a short while is in a far worse condition than before. The most common result is Rheumatism for which S. S. S. is the most reliable cure. A few bottles will afford relief where all else has failed.

I suffered from a severe attack of Mercurial Rheumatism, my arms and legs being swollen to more than twice their natural size, causing the most excruciating pains. I spent hundreds of dollars without relief, but after taking a few bottles of S. S. S. I improved rapidly, and am now a well man, completely cured. I can heartily recommend your wonderful medicine to anyone afflicted with this painful disease.

SPEARED M. RYDER WITH AN ICE HOOK

STEEL POINT TORE A HOLE IN HIS THIGH.

He Is An Employee of the Ferris Company and Backed Against the Poles That Men Behind Him Were Using—Injury Painful and Serious.

MARTIN RYDER, an employee of the Ferris Ice Company, was spitted on an ice hook at 1 o'clock this afternoon, inflicting a painful and serious wound. Ryder was working inside the ice house packing the blocks away, when he stepped backwards. At the same time other workmen were moving forward with their steel-pointed poles. Ryder backed against one of these, which penetrated his left thigh its full length of the point. Blood flowed in streams from the ugly wound, and Ryder was hurriedly taken to the surgeon's office by Mr. Ferris for treatment. He resides at 208 West Milwaukee street.

Hale's Cough Cordial can only be purchased from Prentice & Evenson.

SALARIES, NOT FEES IS NOW THE PLAN

COUNTY BOARD FAVOR A NEW DEAL.

Adopt a Resolution Requesting the Legislature to Do Away With Fees In the Offices of Clerk of the Court and Register of Deeds—Other Business.

Rock county board of supervisors adopted a resolution this afternoon, requesting the legislature to amend the statutes so as to make the circuit court clerk and register of deeds in counties of 20,000 population or over salaried officers; also that the law in relation to the control of county in sane asylums be amended so that the county boards will have more authority in their management. These resolutions were presented by Supervisor Mayhew and both were unanimously adopted.

Much time was occupied with the detailed report of Superintendent of Poor Kenyon, giving the names of all persons to whom aid had been furnished. Considerable discussion was indulged in, but the report was finally adopted.

The special committee to whom was referred the question of returning to the township system of caring for the poor, submitted a report through Supervisor Bailey, which was averse to such a return, and the report was adopted.

By resolution of Supervisor Vankirk the register was directed to cause the abstract book of the city of Janesville to be copied into a half dozen or more smaller books, the expense not to exceed $500.

At 3 o'clock the board was still in session, with chances that the business would not be concluded before tomorrow.

LABOR BILL READY TO BE INTRODUCED

JANESVILLE UNIONS FAVOR
PROPOSED LEGISLATION.

The Blacklist Is a Fearful Weapon It Is Contended—Projected Law Prevent Combinations to Injure Either Employee or Employer number of Trainmen Regulated.

"I tell you Gov. Upham's reference in his message to the labor question was sound doctrine" remarked a Janesville man who takes great interest in the rights and wrongs of the working men today. "The black list" he continued "is a fearfully powerful weapon and deprives hundreds of innocent men of their employment. The agitation for legislation preventing the use of the black list and providing for the protection of employees as well as that of passengers engaged in railway service and travel, and for the payment of wages weekly in cash, has reached a definite form in the preparation of bills to be presented at Madison."

"The bill to that end has been endorsed by all of the Trades unions in Janesville and other cities and their passage will be earnestly worked for."

Combinations Are Unlawful. The bill provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to agree or combine to prevent any person or persons seeking employment from obtaining such employment; if any agent or company prevents such persons from getting work, after discharging them without good cause, they shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

If any railroad company or any other company or partnership or corporation in this state shall authorize, permit or allow any of its agents to blacklist any discharged employee or employees or attempt by word or writing or any other means whatsoever, to prevent such discharged employee or any employee who may have voluntarily left such company's or person's service from obtaining employment from any other person or company, such railway company, other company, partnership or corporation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Discharge Only for Cause. Any person or persons, employer or employers of labor, and any person or persons of any corporation or corporations on behalf of such corporation or corporations, who shall discharge any laborer or laborers, mechanic or employee of any kind for the sole reason that such laborer or laborers, mechanic or employee belongs to any labor organization, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

The penalties are from $250 to $500 fines. If any railway company or other partnership, or corporation in its state shall authorize or allow any of its or their agents to blacklist any discharged employee or employees, or attempt by word or writing or any other means whatsoever, to prevent such discharged employee or any employee who may have voluntarily left such person or company's service, from obtaining employment with any other person or company, such company or person shall be liable in treble damages to such employee so prevented from obtaining employment, to be recovered by civil action.

Number of Train Hands Fixed. The bill to provide for better protection on railroads calls for at least one conductor and three brakemen on a freight train and no conductor shall act in the double capacity of conductor and brakeman. Passenger trains shall not have less than three cars, one conductor, one baggageman and two brakemen; engines used for switching shall have a crew of a foreman and three helpers; every railroad in the state shall have a crew of at least four section men for every eight miles of road; all locomotive boilers shall be inspected by a competent inspector, once a month; the district attorney of counties shall prosecute when called upon for violation, and the penalty shall be $500 for each and every offense.

In regard to the regulating and payment of wages the bill says that all employees shall be paid at the end of each week, all wages earned during the preceding week.

Any corporation violating the law shall be subject to a fine of $250 for each and every offense.

TRAINMEN ASK ABOUT TICKETS.

C. & N. W. Issues a New Order to Lessen the Cash Fare Evil.

"Got a ticket?" asked a brakeman as an old gentleman with back-woods whiskers was about to board a train at the Northwestern depot yesterday.

"What is that to you?" asked the old gentleman testily, as he scanned the brakeman over his glasses.

"I wasn't prying into your business," replied the brakeman, "but you know we have to ask that question now. A new order has been issued whereby trainmen are required to ascertain if possible, whether passengers have tickets or not before they get on the car. So many formed the habit of paying their fare on the train that something had to be done. It was a great annoyance to all hands and the conductors and the company would much prefer that passengers buy tickets instead of paying cash."

"You have a ticket you say?" All right.

The new order has been received in Janesville and is now in force so if a brakeman asks you what you think is an impertinent question don't get mad. He has to do it.

MANY ITALIANS SETTLE HERE Twenty Five or Thirty Have Come in the Past Year.

This is a good town and all nationalities appreciate it. Even the sons of Sunny Italy are recognizing the fact and are coming here to live. A few years ago it was seldom that an Italian was seen except when he came through with a hand organ and a "monk" and expanded his copper colored face at the sight of the copper pennies. Now it is different and within the last year twenty five or thirty Italians, some married and with families and others who are single have settled here and some grocers carry edibles in consequence, that no one but an Italian would eat. Very little money will support them and they are close buyers. Five to ten cents worth of one article is about the extent of their purchases and lima beans "wide beans" they call them, are a staple article.

The old gentleman brings an action to recover $500 in United States bonds and $100 in cash which he claims his daughter has in her possession, and which belongs to him. The old man is a German and an interpreter is required to translate the testimony into "United States."

Memorial services will be held in the Presbyterian church on January 27. The interment will take place tomorrow, the postponement being made on account of the non-arrival of E. S. Barrows, of Denver, who has been delayed by a railway accident.

POLICEMEN FOUGHT AND BLOOD FLOWED

TWO NIGHTWATCHMEN CAME TOGETHER LAST NIGHT.

Officers Smith and Conroy Fall Out at Midnight and Fight With Fists and Canes—The Latter Has a Gash In His Head In Consequence.

Two Janesville nightwatchmen came together last night and a royal battle resulted. Clubs were used and if all accounts be true they had a lively time of it. Officer Ed. Smith and Officer M. J. Conroy were the belligerents and both carried home sore heads as the result of the fight they had when they were supposed to be guarding the slumbering people who hire them.

It was after 12 o'clock this morning, when Officer Conroy with his face covered with blood, and a deep cut in his scalp, crowded into the auditorium of the Catholic League and appealed to Patrolman Hogan to arrest Officer Smith.

"We got into trouble," explained the bleeding officer, showing a large cut on the top of the head, "and this is what I got but I think Smith is used up as bad as I am."

"This night watch business has been a farce for a number of years," said a man who was familiar with the causes that led to the fight. "In fact it never did amount to any benefit to the city, and Mayor Thoroughgood would be strongly endorsed if he should at once revoke the appointments of these officers, and instead of relying upon such service appoint a regular officer free from any feuds or partnerships. With such an officer, one depending wholly upon the city for his emoluments, better and more satisfactory service would be obtained."

THE BIRD.

A-floating, a-floating,
Across the sleeping sea,
All night I hear a singing bird
Upon the topmost tree.

"Oh, came you from the isles of Greece,
Or from the banks of Seine,
Or from some tree in forests free
That fringe the western main?"

"I came not off the old world,
Nor yet from off the new.
But I am one of the birds of God
Which sing the whole night through."
—Charles Kingsley.

REPENTANCE.

"You have my decision, sir," Miriam Gray spoke in a sharp, quick tone, her dark eyes flashing, her queenly head set to one side, her gestures nervous, yet graceful.

A pallor swept across Bruce Ventnor's face, and he lifted his hand to his mouth to hide the twitching of the muscles. There was nothing ambiguous about her reply. It was an unmistakable rejection. It was useless either to plead or argue. He was at a loss to account for her repressed agitation. He watched her through the mellow twilight and became more conscious than ever of her exceeding loveliness and the hard blow which she had dealt him.

He had been paying her attention for some time and was sure that she loved him. That was why his bewilderment was so great and his disappointment so keen. Knowing that his character was beyond reproach, and that he had in nowise offended her, he felt justified in demanding the reason for her strange conduct. He knew her too well to fancy for a moment that she was trifling with him. She was neither variable in her moods nor fickle in her friendships.

"Miriam," Bruce Ventnor said, his voice husky, his manner agitated, "I have the right to ask your reason for this rejection."

"No, you have not," she replied, the color coming and going in her face.
"Still I'll tell you. I am prompted by revenge."

"By revenge?" repeated he in a dazed tone.

"Yes," was her measured reply. "I want you to suffer."

"And you enjoy it?" he said bitterly.

"Then you know how much I love you it seems. I always knew you did not question that."

They had been seated upon a bench outside a small pavilion, but were now standing. She was suffering more than she would have cared to let him know and was impatient to get away.

"Pray, in what way have I wronged
you?" he asked. "Not in thought, word nor act. I consider myself the soul of honor."

"Oh, you do?" and she laughed mockingly. "Instead, you are a man without principle."

He groaned aloud in his powerful effort to repress his angry indignation.

"I am not avenging myself, but another," she said, speaking with rapidity. "Did you ever know Blanche Carroll? Oh, it is not necessary for me to remind you of your baseness!"

She turned abruptly from him and walked rapidly toward the hotel. He watched her until she had disappeared
in the gloom of the gathering twilight, one hand pressed against his forehead, a hurt, baffled, mystified expression in his face. He strode up the beach, then along a wild ledge of rocks, as if to find solace in the loneliness of the hour.

When Miriam Gray reached her room at the hotel, reaction set in, and her great grief showed how devotedly she loved the man whom she had insulted.
She flung herself upon the bed and cried
as if her heart were broken.

"Oh, Blanche," she exclaimed aloud between her hysterical sobs, "you are avenged, but you will never know what it has cost me! Oh, why was I to love him so passionately before I heard about his perfidy?"

Early though it was she retired to bed, but it was almost dawn before she fell asleep, so intense was her suffering.

Three years later again found Miriam Gray at the seashore. She had not met Bruce Ventnor during that interval, nor had she heard from him.

She was as handsome as ever and more royal in her manners, but her face and conversation lacked brilliancy. She was more quiet and reserved, more chary in her friendships, ready to suspect and heartily tired of the hollowness of fashionable life.

Her love affair with Bruce Ventnor had changed the change. In punishing him for his perfidy to her Cousin Blanche she had sacrificed herself. She could never love another man as she had loved him.

As she was one day walking on the promenade with her cousin Blanche they suddenly came upon Bruce Ventor. He was alone and stood still for a minute, the meeting was so unexpected
to him.

He lifted his hat, looked mournfully and reproachfully at Miriam, as if half inclined to speak, and then strode toward the nearest pavilion.

Miriam recognized him and was touched at the look he had bestowed upon her.

"Who was that gentleman?" asked her Cousin Blanche. "Did he bow to you or to me?"

Receiving no reply, she looked up in-
to her companion's face.

"Why, Miriam, how pale you are,"
she exclaimed, "and how agitated!"

"Blanche, do you mean to say that you do not know that man?" Miriam asked, her voice a mere whisper.

"I never saw him until today," was her cousin's reply.

"Oh!" cried Miriam, catching her breath, one hand unconsciously clenched, "is he not the man who trifled with you?"

"Bruce Ventnor?" replied, Blanche.
"Why, no, child!"

The blood receded from Miriam's lips, and a low moan escaped from them. She grew so weak for a little while that she was forced to lean heavily upon Blanche, who conducted her to one of the rustic benches. She fanned her, rubbed her hands and spoke to her in soothing tones. When her cousin had sufficiently recovered, she asked:

"Miriam, what is this mystery?"

"Oh, I am so afraid that I have wronged that—man and—myself. I was so cruel to him, for I supposed that I was avenging you. His name is Bruce Ventnor."

"Eh?" exclaimed Blanche, who was beginning to comprehend. "He is not the Bruce Ventnor that I knew." And her voice shook with emotion. "Can it be that there are two gentlemen of the same name? I remember hearing him say he had some cousins. Oh, I am so sorry and so—glad!"

Miriam Gray looked at her friend in a sort of stupor.

"Sorry, dear, because of what you have suffered and glad because everything will yet come out all right."

Miriam mournfully shook her head.

"He will never forgive me," she said.
"He is proud and sensitive. My words cut deep—all the more so because so undeserved. I gave him no explanation, no chance to defend himself."

"You can explain now," suggested Blanche.

"No!" replied Miriam in a strained tone, a proud look coming to her face.

She wrung her hands and moaned,
and nothing that Blanche could say carried consolation with it. Her love had been but dormant. It reasserted itself.
Bruce Ventnor had been blameless. She had deeply wronged him. She was paying the penalty for her haste.

"I would tell him all," advised
Blanche.

"He may spurn me," cried Miriam through her sobs. "He may be as cruel and unreasonable as I was and with more of an excuse. It happened three years ago. He may love some one else now—may, he may be married to another. There is nothing for me to do but to remain silent and—endure."

Her grief was so great that Blanche ceased her efforts to pacify her.

The orchestra was playing a quadrille.
Miriam Gray sat on the veranda by an open window, looking in at the dancers, her face and form plainly visible. A gentleman stepped from among the shadows on the porch. He stopped beside Miriam.

"Miriam!" he simply said, though his voice trembled.

Ah, she knew who had spoken! No one else could have pronounced her name with such sweet tenderness. The blood filled her face, then left it deathly pale.

She lifted her eyes swiftly to his, a fond, glad, appealing look in them.

"Your cousin has told me all," he said, his handsome eyes aglow. "She felt it to be her duty. You did it for her sake. Your pride stood in your way.
The mistake arose from a confusion in names. A cousin of mine was the per-fidious fellow, while I am the honest, true hearted man I claimed to be."

Oh, it was so precious to her to know that he had forgiven her and was willing to receive her in favor again! She grew so excited that her fan shook in her hands.

"The moon is rising," he said as he offered her his arm.

She did not want to attract attention to herself. She appreciated his purpose.
She gave him a grateful glance. She arose, took his arm, and they strolled down the beach.

"Miriam," he said, looking down
upon her, his eyes shining into hers,
"three years ago you rejected me. What would you answer now?"

He felt that she was trembling.

"Oh, how I wronged you!" she cried.
"Have you forgiven me?"

"Yes, darling."

"Oh, Mr. Ventnor!" she exclaimed,
"I do not deserve it. I loved you very much then—I love you more now. I cannot make a wreck of my happiness.
You dear, kind, forgiving, great hearted man, I accept you gladly, proudly, just as—"

"Emphatically as you rejected me," completed he, his face shining. "I am thoroughly satisfied."

He stooped and kissed her, and no reconciliation could have been more complete.—London Million.

THE WORKING GIRL.

Miss Sallie Palmer Gives Some Suggestions to Girls About Backache, Faintness, and Dizziness.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)
Did you ever notice working girls on their way home from stores or factories?

Did you notice
how many of them
had pale cheeks,
dull eyes, and heavy steps? and did you wonder why they were not ruddy and bright?

The story which is told by Miss Sallie Palmer, of Ninetown, Pa., gives the reason for this sad condition of many working girls.

Sometimes their back and sides will ache terribly. They are faint and dizzy with pain and weight in the lower part of their stomach. They watch the clock, and wish that the day would end, as they feel so ill and tired.

Standing all day, week in and week out,
they have slowly drifted into woman's great enemy, displacement of the womb.
That, or some other derangement of the organ, causes irregularity or suspension of the "monthly periods," bloating, flooding, or nervous prostration.

"Take warning in time," she says,
"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the surest and safest remedy in the world for you."

20 North Main Street.

It's an inspiration of the business--seeing as we do thousands of buyers and selling them better goods for their money than they expected. The average of the great majority is an expenditure of one dollar for two dollar's worth. We're impelled to do our best by the appreciation of the people, and by our necessity to get our new store at 20 North Main Street well known.

BENEFITS FROM WALKING.

Best Cosmetic Is Fresh Air and Exercise. Styles For Girls.

A writer in a Parisian paper devoted to beauty and fashion recommends pedestrianism to his readers in no equivocal terms. He says: "Of all open air amusements walking is the easiest, the most salutary and the cheapest. If you have a headache, walk. If you wish your complexion to be rosy and clear, walk. If you want to keep your figure straight and slender, walk. One hour on foot does more for the health than four hours in a carriage."

GIRLS' FASHIONS.

riage, on a bicycle or on horseback." This eager adviser is rather hasty in placing bicycle and horseback riding on an equality with what is rather absurdly termed "carriage exercise." Persons who have had experience of all three methods of locomotion will hardly be willing to agree that the exercise involved in going out in a cushioned carriage is equal to that of riding a wheel uphill or having one's internal economy well shaken upon a horse.

Walking is, at any rate, a very necessary exercise for children and young girls, for with them it usually means more or less running, jumping or other active motion, from which grown persons are debarred as well by their clothes as by a sense of dignity. Put men and women in bathing or tennis costume, and they skip as gleefully as their small brothers and sisters.

Freedom to run is as necessary to a child as to a dog or horse, and child means a little girl as much as it does a little boy. Fortunately the old system of compelling the girl to walk quietly and sedately because she is a girl, while the boy races and romps for the equally good reason that he is a boy is exploded, and both grow strong and rosy through the activity naturally induced by the overflow of animal spirits with which all young creatures are endowed.

The first figure in the sketch wears a street gown of hazel brown cloth trimmed with velvet of a darker shade. The plaited skirt has a velvet panel on each side. Breasted of velvet come over the shoulder from the back of the velvet belt and cross in front. Velvet epaulets fall over the top of the bouffant sleeves, and the plastron and collar are of velvet. The second figure wears a coat of heliotrope velvet. The collar, of white cloth braided, is partly covered with a narrower one of black velvet. Black brandebourgs and mink bands form the trimming. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONABLE FANCIES.

Fur Is Combined With Lace on Silk Blouses Most Effectively.

Fur boleros and short jackets are popular and becoming to slender figures.

The new cut cloth is not enthusiastically adopted and will probably have no great vogue, as it strongly suggests the pinked felting so much used at one time for table and shelf covers. Over a contrasting lining it is sometimes effective, but never rich looking.

Some of the silk blouses made to wear with different skirts are trimmed with fur, which forms bands and bretelles. Ermine is a favorite fur for this purpose. A dinner bodice of lace, slightly decolete, as a band of ermine around the edge of the neck, an effective bit of color being introduced by the use of rosettes of geranium velvet.

Velvet is much worn for entire evening gowns. It requires to be plain in fashion, but perfectly cut and fitted.

Effective bodices are made of piece guipure stretched over a lining of cloth or silk of a contrasting color.

A dinner gown recently seen had puffed bow sleeves of widely striped silk, the rest of the gown being of solid color.

Velvet and wool form a combination very much worn this season. The velvet may be of the same color as the goods or a decidedly different tint, bright velvets being much employed with black material. Some of the new tarten velvets and silks are really beautiful. They are used for separate bodices and can scarcely fail to win favor, although many women have prejudice against bright plaids.

Pink in all clear shades is in immense demand. It is the favorite color for evening gowns, and in deep tones it trims sack hats and bonnets and forms the ornamental draped collars which are now worn with nearly every sort of costume.

An illustration is given of a rather odd outdoor garment made of palm green cloth. It is mounted in deep plaits on a bare yoke, the yoke being concealed by wide, flaring collar of white cloth, partly covered with an application of guipure. The standing collar is plaited, while the sleeves have deep cuffs of white cloth and figure similar to the wide collar. JUDIC CHOLLET.
